Ridenours take ownership of Oak + Ash

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

DOWAGIAC — A lifelong dream has become a reality for Andrew and Bethany Ridenour, who have officially taken over as the principal owners and operators of Oak + Ash Restaurant in downtown Dowagiac.

"This has always been a dream of ours – to return to the place where we both started, working side by side in our hometown, serving the community that has supported us our whole lives," said Andrew Ridenour.

Both Andrew and Bethany are graduates of Dowagiac High School. Their journey in the restaurant industry began at Zeke's Restaurant – the very same building that now houses Oak + Ash. Andrew, a tribal citizen of the Pokagon Band of Potawatomi, went on to hone his culinary skills at Four Winds Casino, working his way into the kitchens of its upscale dining venues before returning home to Dowagiac to fulfill this dream.

Oak + Ash will continue to serve its signature smoked meats, now paired with a fresh Tex-Mex twist and surrounded by a completely redesigned interior. The new décor embraces a Tex-Mex western theme featuring classic cowboys and cowgirls, vintage western movie posters, record albums, famous western art prints, and a showcase of Dowagiac's iconic Round Oak memorabilia.

In addition to the updated menu and atmosphere, Oak + Ash is introducing weekly food and drink specials, including:

Margarita Mondays
Wing Wednesdays
Thirsty Thursdays
All-You-Can-Eat Fish Fry Fridays

The Ridenours invite the community to stop by, experience the new look, enjoy their expanded offerings, and share in the celebration of this new chapter for Oak + Ash.

Olympia Books welcomed Dr. Tasha Faruqui on Monday for a special book signing event for her memoir titled "Keep Your Head Up: A Mother's Story of Chasing Joy in the Face of Grief."

Full circle: Dowagiac author returns for book reading, signing

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

DOWAGIAC — A Dowagiac native returned to her roots Monday to share her story of hope and healing.

Olympia Books, 208 S. Front St., Dowagiac, welcomed Dr. Tasha Faruqui on Monday for a special book signing event for her memoir titled "Keep Your Head Up: A Mother's Story of Chasing Joy in the Face of Grief." In addition to the book signing, Faruqaui also had a reading and Q&A session at the Beckwith Theatre.

A USA Today National Bestseller, "Keep Your Head Up" tells the story of Faruqui's experience as a pediatrician and a parent to a terminally ill child. The memoir provides guidance and hope to other parents and caregivers of sick children who are navigating elusive diagnoses and emotional turmoil.

Dozens of community members – including many former classmates and teachers – attended the events. Faruqui had copies of her book for sale and signing.

"It's actually been wonderful and incredible," she said. "I think that with writing a memoir and revisiting every aspect of my life, this does feel very full circle."

Faruqui described her memoir as "very raw and open" and admits she is often surprised, wondering what people thought of the content and if they were surprised by what was going on with her or her family.

"The lens and the perspective that the community has is one that I find to be probably the most important," she said. "Someone here asked me how this compares to a stranger reading the book. It's almost like I'm actually more nervous about the critics and the people that know me versus a stranger."

Dowagiac Union Schools seeks sinking fund millage approval on Nov. 4 ballot

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac Union Schools residents are being asked to consider approving a sinking fund millage proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot. DUS is proposing the sinking fund at the rate of 0.5 mills for ten years.

The sinking fund is a "pay-as-you-go" mechanism for funding capital improvements, meaning the funds are used for projects as they become available instead of through borrowing and paying interest. The district does not expect any interest expense associated within the sinking fund.

If approved, the millage is expected to generate an estimated $400,000 to $600,000 per year for the district. Sinking fund revenues are legally restricted and cannot be used for general day-to-day operating expenses like staff salaries or textbooks.

Both mayoral candidates, Don Lyons and Pat Bakeman, have endorsed and indicated their support for the proposal.

DUS projects that approving the 0.5 mill increase would result in a combined debt millage and sinking fund levy of 4.30 mills for 2026. This is the same combined levy amount as the total debt millage levied in 2025. For a home with a market value of $100,000 (estimated taxable value of $50,000), the annual cost would be $25, or approximately $2.08 per month.

If the measure passes, the funds will be used for specific capital improvement projects, including school security improvements, technology upgrades, purchases of bus and transportation vehicles, parts, and supplies and construction and repairs of school buildings and real estate.

The district is proposing the millage to ensure its facilities are safe, secure, modern and attractive for the instruction and safety of students and staff.

The full text of the ballot proposal can be found at www.dowagiacschools.org. Readers with questions can call the Central Office at (269) 782-4400.

First United Methodist to host annual fall rummage sale

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

DOWAGIAC — A local church is hosting one of its biggest events of the year.

First United Methodist Church, 326 N. Lowe St., Dowagiac, will host its annual fall rummage and bake sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 10 and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 11.

The sale – which has been a church staple for more than 20 years – features clothing, home goods, media, books, furniture, tools, medical supplies and more.

On Saturday, unmarked clothing will sell for $4 per bag while marked clothing and other items will be sold at half price.

In addition to gently used clothing and products, the church will also host a bake sale in conjunction with the rummage sale to feature homemade baked goods.

The rummage sale is a church community effort. According to organizer Darlene Trussell, more than a dozen volunteers are helping bring the sale to life.

"I've had a lot of help," Trussell said. "I'm blessed because the girls work very hard and the men went and got furniture and stuff and brought it to the church. It's all been very nice."

Proceeds from the sale will benefit several area missions, including ACTION Ministries, United Methodist Community House, hospice care in Cass County, Cass County CASA, Cass County Cancer Service, Domestic and Sexual Abuse Services, Helping Hands of Cass County and the Salvation Army and the local Red Cross.

Trussell is grateful for the community members who peruse and purchase items from the rummage sale every year.

"We are blessed with anything we can get," Trussell said. We're thankful for the donations and I'm glad we can help the missions again."

■ Go Lions!

■ It's nice to see that someone is finally trying to take initiative in cleaning up the gang-bang violence in our largest cities, like Chicago. Just because crime is dropping doesn't mean it's safe enough to walk down Michigan Ave.

■ My guess is the generals and admirals were none too happy to sit and listen to our draft dodger President talk about the two "N" words.

■ Now this sex trafficker guy in Cassopolis gets a 10 year vacation away from reality on the taxpayer's money.

■ Niles football is tough!

■ Let's all pray for peace, finally, in Gaza. Wars are stupid and it only takes one or two people to end it immediately. There is so much suffering and it just has to end now.

■ I wish that just once I could drive on US Hwy 12 and not be tailgated. I think they need a few more speed limit signs to alert the crazy drivers that 75 MPH is not an acceptable speed. Sorry, but I don't drive that fast. Forgive me for following the rules.

■ Vote! If you don't like the way things are, then vote! Vote out the incumbents who want to see your healthcare triple in price. Vote out the incumbents who believe those earning the least should be getting the least help to get through day to day.

■ Illegals are NOT getting Medicaid! No undocumented immigrants are getting these services. The shutdown is an attempt to help fund healthcare for those Americans (Republicans and Democrats) who are on Affordable Care and or Medicaid and prevent their costs from doubling or tripling. End of story.

■ I don't like the idea of burning the US flag as an act of protest. But, the fact that our US Constitution allows for it as a Freedom of Speech, speaks volumes to the strength of our republic and shield of democracy we enjoy.

■ I appreciate Niles Councilman Michael Thompson for distributing his anti-tax propaganda throughout our neighborhood this weekend. Really enjoyed seeing it scattered all over the area Monday morning on our walk. Nice work Mike!

Southwestern Michigan College

DOWAGIAC — Southwestern Michigan College Board of Trustees heard updates on academics, arts and athletics at its Oct. 8 regular meeting on the Dowagiac campus.

Interim President Brent Brewer reported on a flurry of activity six weeks into Fall Semester.

On Sept. 18, 18 area high school counselors were welcomed for an annual breakfast.

The fall College Fair on Sept. 24 saw a huge turnout. "We had over 500 high school students attend," Brewer said, "and 53 colleges and universities. This, by far, was the most well-attended in my 17 years with the college."

On Oct. 1, under the leadership of Career Development Manager Melinda Kedik-Stockwell, the college hosted its fourth annual Futures Fair with the theme "Superheroes." Futures Fair brings industry and business to campus to help students ponder their futures. More than 240 students connected with 13 employers to learn about SMC programs and career pathways.

On Oct. 3, Automotive Day for 225 students from seven high schools featured breakout sessions by Zolman Tire and Modern Muscle Car Factory.

This Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11, SMC hosts the Michigan Mathematics Association for Two-Year Colleges (MichMATYC) fall conference.

The fall choir concert, "Songs of the Soul," takes place Oct. 24 at 7 p.m. The band concert, "Bayou Breakdown," is scheduled for Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. The fall play, "Red Days," runs Nov. 20-22 at 7:30 p.m. and Nov. 23 at 2 p.m., all in the theatre of the Dale A. Lyons Building.

Freshman Owen Saylor won Runner of the Year, and the women's team captured the conference title. SMC women rank 13th nationally, the men, 14th.

Basketball season looms. The SMC women went 2-1 in their first scrimmages at Harper College over the weekend and the men travel to Rockford, Ill., this Saturday for three games at the Rock Valley College Jamboree. Regular season play kicks off Oct. 31 at home with the Roadrunner Classic.

Wrestling's intersquad dual meet unfolds at noon on Sunday in the Fieldhouse.

HORTON

NILES — A Warsaw, Indiana, man was sentenced to prison Monday in Berrien County Trial Court at the Niles courthouse, while others were sentenced to jail or probation.

Primitivo Contreras Almanza, 40, of Warsaw, Indiana, pleaded guilty to second degree home invasion and was sentenced to 24 months to 180 months in prison. He has credit for 152 days already served and must pay $308 in fines and costs.

The incident occurred May 28 in Niles Township. Almanza is in the country illegally and has an immigration hold on him.

Defense attorney Carri Briseno said that her client had had a very long period with no police contact since a drunk driving conviction in 2008.

"After that, he recognized that alcohol use was an issue in his life and he had a long term of sobriety," she said. "But he had had been drinking on the day of the offense and police said he was highly intoxicated."

She asked for a local sentence so he can address his immigration issues. She noted that his entire family lives in the United States.

A South Bend man who stole items from the Niles Rural King store was sentenced to jail.

Melvin Duane Thomas, 57, of South Bend, pleaded guilty to third-degree retail fraud and was sentenced to 300 days in jail with credit for 77 days served and $198 in fines and costs. He must pay $3,491.45 in restitution.

The incident occurred June 29 in Niles Township. Thomas maintains that two other people were also involved in the theft but they have not been arrested.

Defense attorney Daniel French said Thomas has been polite, respectful and forthcoming in his interactions with him. For his part, Thomas said he wanted to apologize for his actions. "I want to apologize for doing something stupid," he said. "I had no business taking stuff that didn't belong to me."

Berrien County Trial Court Judge Gordon Hosbein noted that Thomas will face harsher and harsher punishments in the future if he continues to commit crimes.

Joni Elaine Baggett, 41, of Niles, pleaded guilty to possession of methamphetamine and was sentenced to 120 days in jail with credit for 89 days served and $198 in fines and costs.

The incident occurred Sept. 5, 2023 in Niles Township.

Defense attorney Shayne Williams said that she felt a probation term would set Baggett up for failure, Baggett disagreed and said she had changed.

Judge Hosbein said that Baggett had been given the tools to change her life with past probation sentences. "Probation has given you all the tools you need but you have refused to use them, you know what you have to do," he said. "I hope you get help and get better. I'm not going to place you on probation, there is nothing left they can teach you."

Chelsy Lisa Penley, 32, of Niles, pleaded guilty to tampering with an electronic tether/monitor and was sentenced to 300 days in jail with credit for 106 days served and $198 in fines and costs.

The incident occurred Feb. 19, 2024 in Bertrand Township. She also faces charges in Indiana.

Penley acknowledged that she had cut off her ankle monitor because she was going places where her probation wouldn't allow her to go. "I'm hoping to get back on the right path," she said.

Cory Allan Whitman, 34, of South Bend, pleaded guilty to delivery of a controlled substance and was sentenced to 365 days in jail with credit for 73 days served. He must pay $348 in fines, costs and restitution.

The incident occurred June 17 in Oronoko Township.

"I made a stupid decision," he said. "I've spent 72 days in jail when I have a family to support. I understand that I made a bad decision."

William James Housand, 72, of Niles, pleaded guilty to third offense drunk driving and was sentenced to two years probation, 180 days in jail with credit for three days served, 480 hours of community service and $1,578 in fines and costs.. He can spend most of his jail term on tether after serving 30 days.

The incident occurred April 15 in Niles Township.

Defense attorney Alexandru Stancu said that Housand, a Vietnam veteran, has gotten inpatient services with the Veterans Administration and hopes to get more counseling with Riverwood. Stancu said there had been more than 10 years since Housand's last drunk driving conviction.

Housand apologized for his actions and said he had been sober for seven years before this incident.

Judge Hosbein noted that Housand would be going to prison on this charge except for the fact that there had been a 10 year gap between convictions which lowered the sentencing guidelines.

Kayli Dawn Horton, 31, of Niles, pleaded guilty to second offense possession of methamphetamine and was sentenced to two years probation in Drug Court, completion of the Tri-Cap program, 150 days in jail with credit for 84 days served and $658 in fines and costs. She can be released to Tri-Cap as soon as a bed becomes available.

The incident occurred May 19, 2023 in Niles.

"This is an opportunity for you to change your life," Judge Hosbein said. "This is the time and opportunity for you to do it. Choose yourself and this opportunity."

AUTHOR

A 1999 graduate of Dowagiac Union High School and Berrien County Math and Science Center, Dr. Faruqui graduated from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor with a bachelor of science degree in biopsychology and cognitive science in December 2002 before graduating from medical school at Midwestern University's Arizona College of Osteopathic Medicine in 2008.

She was named a top doctor by Cincinnati Magazine in 2022, 2023 and 2024. Her family was the subject of a recent documentary created by Make-A-Wish, which won a 2024 Emmy Award in the Human Interest Short or Long Form Content category and has been viewed online thousands of times.

Faruqui is humbled and honored by the community's positive reception of the book and highlighted the importance of her education in the Dowagiac Union Schools district.

"I feel very strongly that my education here was wonderful and incredible," she said. "To have the same people that taught me not only reading my book and supporting it, but also getting the word out to the community, is special. I had former classmates, my first grade teacher, and my boss from my first job when I was 16, all show up. They all had comments saying, 'I had no idea this is the way you were feeling,' or, 'I can't believe this is what you're doing now.'"

While Faruqui did not set out to become an author, she has embraced life's pivots and detours.

"If somebody were to ask me five years ago, do you see yourself writing a book? No, absolutely not," she said. "That was not part of the plan and sometimes you can make plans, but life will present you with situations where you have to pivot. I think that is also a universal message in the book is be ready to pivot. Don't be so hard fast on your plans because sometimes it doesn't work out that way."

"My advice is that you absolutely can do big things even if you come from a small town or a rural high school. ... if you truly find your passion, you will get there and you have the ability and the tools from the education in the community."

DR. TASHA FARUQUI
Author of "Keep Your Head Up: A Mother's Story of Chasing Joy in the Face of Grief"

Additionally, she found that through writing her memoir, a lot of processing and healing was happening that she had not anticipated. All book proceeds are going to non profit organizations.

"I thought getting the book published was the most interesting thing," she said. "I went into medicine knowing exactly what steps to take – pre-med, MCAT, medical school, residency – but with writing a book, I had no idea of the steps. I thought having a complete manuscript meant the book was done."

Faruqui said the biggest struggle – and the biggest relief – was finding an agent. Several people told her the book wouldn't sell because the theme about a child in hospice was "too sad."

"It took several rejections," she said. "That made me question if I would ever get the book out. Signing my publishing contract was the biggest joy, just knowing that the book was going to happen. The biggest relief was knowing that this could actually come out in print and be published in a traditional way."

Faruqui is proud of her Dowagiac upbringing and encourages students to embrace their hometown and pursue their dreams.

"My advice is that you absolutely can do big things even if you come from a small town or a rural high school," she said. "It's OK if you don't have everything figured out when you graduate. I think that there's too much pressure on humans in general to know what path they're going to take and that there's ways to change your mind and to take detours. But if you truly find your passion, you will get there and you have the ability and the tools from the education in the community. The fact that I can come back and have this type of welcome you're not gonna find that anywhere else.

"I will also say there's this idea of growing up in a small town that you're ready to leave it behind and do something big and both can be true," Faruqui continued. "I think it's really important that as soon as I ventured out, I craved and found so many beautiful aspects of our town I appreciated more after exploring outside of Dowagiac. There's just so much that this town has to offer. You don't have to have it all figured out, you absolutely can do anything and everything."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Local sports teams are community lifelines

In these politically divided times, it's easy to feel weighed down by constant conflict. Yet here in Southwestern Michigan, sports continue to remind us that there are still places where unity wins out over division.

On Friday nights, high school football fields in Dowagiac, Niles, Edwardsburg and beyond bring neighbors together to cheer on our kids. Saturdays draw fans across the region to watch the University of Michigan, Notre Dame, or Michigan State, where rivalries are fierce, but friendships still thrive. Sundays often split households between the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions, yet even those good-natured rivalries are a reminder that we can disagree without bitterness.

Even within the Pokagon Band, our own sports and recreation programs do more than encourage fitness – they build connection, joy, and resilience.

These moments matter. They give us space to set aside political tension, to celebrate something bigger than ourselves, and to find strength in community. Sports may not solve our political problems, but they provide the hope and unity we need to face them.

In times like these, supporting our teams isn't just entertainment, it's a lifeline.

Vote 'yes' on LMC millage renewal

Dear Editor:

I encourage everyone in our community to vote yes on the Lake Michigan College millage renewal and the proposed millage reduction. This is a responsible plan that keeps college affordable and strong while also lowering the tax burden for local residents.

The first millage renewal is not a new tax. It simply continues the support that allows LMC to provide quality education, job training, and partnerships with local businesses. Thousands of students rely on these programs each year to gain skills that keep our workforce competitive.

At the same time, the college is proposing to reduce the second millage by 50 percent. This means taxpayers get real relief without sacrificing the services and opportunities LMC provides. It's a win-win: students still get the education and training they need, and the community saves money.

This balanced approach shows fiscal responsibility and a commitment to both education and taxpayers. On Election Day, please join me in voting yes for the Lake Michigan College millage renewal and millage reduction.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo Tomasini

Vote 'yes' to banning marijuana in Niles Township

I don't know the people behind the "Vote No on question 2 committee" but this advertisement is no less than a form of intimidation on the citizens of Niles Township. Using this scare tactic that if it does not pass, a special assessment will be applied. Wow, the elected leaders make poor business decisions and obviously did not do their homework. Typical money hungry establishments. The township board, the businesses that sold out for a quick buck and the marijuana businesses that seized on a weak local government before they could realize what they will turn our community into.

I for one will get out and push the narrative to ban the sellout of our township to these marijuana businesses ... I don't know the exact number of places in the area, but I have seen a minimum of seven just driving in our community in Niles, Buchanan and Edwardsburg. What a confusing lesson to be teaching our kids. Say no to drugs but if you say yes, go across the street and buy all you want.

THE CONVERSATION

Tribal colleges and universities aren't well known, but are a crucial steppingstone for Native students

By CYNTHIA LINDQUIST
University of North Dakota
(The Conversation)

Most Native American high school students do not attend or graduate from college.

As a tribal member of Spirit Lake Nation in North Dakota and the former president of Cankdeska Cikana Community College in Fort Totten, North Dakota, I recognize the difference that tribal colleges and universities, like the one I used to work at, can have in rerouting Native students' education journeys.

Tribal colleges and universities, or TCUs, are public institutions that are founded and run by a Native American tribe and focus on serving Native American students and communities.

The approximately 3.9 million Native Americans living in the U.S. have long recognized that TCUs are unique institutions that help Native students succeed in school and earn higher education degrees.

Most Americans, though, have no idea that tribal colleges and universities even exist, let alone know how they work.

Understanding tribal colleges

TCUs enroll approximately 30,000 students each year, including some non-Native students. The median annual tuition at TCUs is US$3,572, making them more affordable than most other public universities.

There are 35 accredited TCUs across 13 states, including Montana, Arizona, Oklahoma, North Dakota and South Dakota. All of these schools are nonprofits.

While a single Native tribe sometimes sets up a tribal college, in other cases a consortium of tribes or the federal government helps establish a school.

Despite their differences, tribal colleges and universities all have the same mission of teaching Indigenous history, culture and languages.

All the tribal colleges also offer associate degrees and certifications. Twenty-two of them have only baccalaureate programs, and nine have master's programs. Navajo Technical University, a tribal college in Crownpoint, New Mexico, which has the largest enrollment size of all the TCUs, began offering a first of its kind doctorate program in Diné Studies in 2024. This program focuses on the language, culture and history of the Diné people, also known as Navajo people.

Affordability has always been a consideration when TCUs set tuition and fees, since most are located on rural American Indian reservations with high unemployment and poverty rates, as well as few available jobs.

TCUs keep their tuition relatively low in part because a majority of their funding comes from the federal government. They also receive funding from philanthropic organizations.

TCUs also generally have minimal overhead costs, since most students live off-campus and only a handful of these colleges and universities offer on-campus housing. Most TCUs have both in-person and online courses.

While there is no single profile of a TCU student, I found that it is common to encounter a 30-year-old, single mother who works full time while trying to earn a college degree.

A growth in college enrollment

In 1968, just 181 Native Americans graduated from a four-year college.

That same year, the Navajo Nation established the first tribal college, then called the Navajo Community College, in Tsaile, Arizona. This school is now called Diné College.

Several factors prevented most Native American students from attending a college or university.

The cost of college was prohibitive, and many Native American students were also not adequately prepared for college in high school. These students and their families also feared that higher education could force them to assimilate into Western and white culture, and erase their own Native traditions and languages.

A long political relationship

When considering this historical context, it is important to understand that Native Americans have a unique relationship with the federal government.

Native Americans largely consider this relationship a political one, bound by the various legal precedents, federal policies and executive orders from the 1800s and onward. These orders and policies from the past several hundred years vary, but they often focus on questions of land, assimilation and the political independence of Native tribes.

There are also treaties and orders that focus on education and spell out the federal government's responsibility to help coordinate and give money to support tribal education.

In 1978, Congress approved the Tribally Controlled Community College Assistance Act, which recognized tribal colleges as higher education institutions and established that the federal government would regularly help fund these schools.

Alongside the creation of new tribal colleges and universities over the past several decades, more and more Native people living on reservations have graduated from high school and received higher education degrees.

The percentage of Native college graduates rose 125 percent from 1990 to 2020. While 4.5 percent of Native students living on reservations received a college degree in 1990, that percentage rose to 10.3 percent with at least a college degree in 2020, according to findings by Harvard Kennedy School in September.

Yet, unlike the high school trends, Native people still graduate college at a much lower rate than the general American population.

In 1990, 20.3 percent of all Americans had at least a college degree. In 2020, 34.3 percent of Americans had a college degree at a minimum, according to the Harvard Kennedy School findings.

A lasting impact

While tribal colleges and universities receive state and federal funding, they are chronically underfunded and often operate in survival mode. In some cases, they lack money to make needed repairs on campus buildings.

One major reason for this shortfall: While Congress agreed in the late 1970s to annually give tribal colleges $8,000 for each Native student they enroll, it has not met this financial and political commitment.

Tribal colleges annually receive $250 million less than what the federal government promised them, a 2024 ProPublica investigation found.

Tribal college and universities' futures were cast in doubt in the spring of 2025, when the Trump administration announced a proposal to cut the Bureau of Indian Education's annual budget from $183 million to $22 million. The Bureau of Indian Education is part of the Department of the Interior and oversees education for Native students.

But the Department of Education went on to announce in September that it would make a one-time, $495 million investment in historically Black colleges and universities and TCUs.

TCU leaders say they are still trying to understand the significance of this funding announcement and what it will result in.

I think it is important to recognize that TCUs make broad contributions to society, well beyond the impact they have on individual students.

TCUs teach entrepreneurship and business development and serve as pilot sites in launching businesses, for example.

For every federal dollar invested in tribal colleges, the schools return $1.60 in tax revenue through the increased tax payments of their alumni and their alumni's employers, according to a September 2025 report by the American Indian Higher Education Consortium, a national organization that represents TCUs.

TCU alumni also generated $3.8 billion in added income, or gross domestic product, to the national economy from October 2022 through September 2023.

These schools offer a unique pathway for Native students to attend a higher education institution, while teaching them the skills they need to build a stable career.

‘Horrific and disturbing’: Cassopolis man gets prison time in sex trafficking case

By DEBRA HAIGHT
For Leader Publications

CASSOPOLIS — A Cassopolis man involved in what Prosecutor Victor Fitz described as a sex trafficking case was sentenced to prison Friday in Cass County Circuit Court.

Johnathon Abram-Barrett, 25, of Cassopolis, pleaded guilty to third-degree criminal sexual conduct involving a victim age 13 to 15 and was sentenced to 10 years to 15 years in prison and $1,048 in fines and costs. He must register as a sex offender and have no contact with anyone under age 18.

BARRETT

Three charges were dismissed in the case: first-degree criminal sexual conduct, delivery of methamphetamine and accosting children for immoral purposes. He was accused of providing the girl with meth. He could have faced a mandatory 25-year prison term if convicted of first-degree criminal sexual conduct.

He has credit for no time served as he is currently in prison on other charges. He was sentenced to prison in May on carrying a weapon with unlawful intent, assault with a dangerous weapon and use of a weapon in the commission of a felony. He also has past convictions for accosting children for immoral purposes and failing to register as a sex offender.

The incidents occurred in 2023 and 2024 at locations in Berrien and Cass counties. The 13-year-old girl who was the victim in this case was rescued in August, 2024 by the Southwest Michigan Drug Enforcement Team at a Benton Harbor area hotel. Two other men have also been sentenced in connection with the incidents.

“It’s been quite a while since I’ve seen this case this horrific and disturbing,” Fitz said. “This is textbook sex trafficking. What he did to this girl was an abomination. She was treated as an object, not a human being. There was no way she should have been subjected to this. This was a nightmare for her and will be for the rest of her life. It’s simply awful.”

Defense attorney Zachary Smith acknowledged that “the circumstances were bad here” but called it a matter of statutory rape and not sex trafficking. He noted that Abram-Barrett had been abused himself as a child. For his part, Abram-Barrett said he planned to appeal his sentence.

Cass County Circuit Court Judge Mark Herman said he found it hard to believe Abram-Barrett’s assertion that he thought the victim was 18. He noted that the girl said her mother had told Abram-Barrett that her daughter was 13 when he had met them at a Dowagiac gas station.

Judge Herman questioned how Abram-Barrett and others who claim they have been abused as children then turn around and abuse children themselves. “People will say they were abused and how horrible it was,” he said. “If it was horrible for you and then you do it to others. It is not an excuse even if it may be a reason it’s happening.”

“What you did to this young lady was unconscionable,” he said. “She will (struggle) emotionally for years. You knew her mother was in jail and you took advantage of her, it shocks my conscience.”

In other sentencings, area residents were given probation and in one instance credit for time served.

Nicholas Kyle Baker, 27, of Dowagiac, pleaded guilty to third offense drunk driving and domestic violence and was sentenced to 11 months probation 30 days in jail with credit for six days served and 480 hours of community service on the drunk driving charge and nine months probation, credit for six days served on the domestic violence charge. He must pay a total of $2,428 in fines, costs and restitution.

If Baker is successful on probation, the drunk driving charge will be reduced to a second offense misdemeanor and the domestic violence charge will be dismissed. The 30 day jail term was suspended to the end of the probation and may not have to be served.

SMITH

The incident occurred March 7 in Pokagon Township. Police were called to his parents’ home where Baker had wrestled his father to the ground and tried to strangle him when the older Baker tried to stop him from driving away with his young daughter while he was drunk. His blood alcohol level was .17, more than twice the legal limit.

Baker apologized and said he has been sober since that incident and wants to move forward with his life.

James Boht, Jr., 44, of Dowagiac, had his delayed sentence continued from a 2024 domestic violence incident. His probation was extended for one year.

Samantha Jewell, 41, of Sturgis, pleaded guilty to use of methamphetamine and was sentenced to two years probation, credit for 89 days served and $2,268 in fines and costs.

The incident occurred May 29 in Dowagiac when her boyfriend’s parole agents made a home visit and found meth pipes and meth.

Dennis Smith II, 33, of Edwardsburg, pleaded guilty to possession of methamphetamine as a habitual offender and was sentenced to credit for 142 days served and $1,548 in fines and costs.

The incident occurred April 13, 2023 in Edwardsburg at a traffic stop. Smith since then has been charged and convicted of similar crimes in Elkhart County and is on probation there.

Cass County Courts celebrate Reunification Day

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

CASSOPOLIS — The Cass County Courts celebrated its annual Reunification Day on Friday, Oct. 3, at Dodd Park, expanding the event to honor individuals achieving long-term recovery through the county’s problem-solving courts.

While many Michigan courts observe Reunification Day in June, the Cass County Courts chose the October date for their 2025 celebration. The event traditionally highlights the importance of family reunification and recognizes the perseverance of parents and the work of community professionals.

The celebration was expanded this year to include individuals who have achieved long-term recovery from substance abuse through support from the problem-solving courts.

Attendees at Dodd Park enjoyed a variety of activities, including iced apple cider provided by the Coffee Pot, family photos, tractor rides, pumpkin decorating and food from court staff.

Chief Judge Carol Bealor addressed the crowd, emphasizing the collective benefit of the courts’ work.

“We are so thankful for the support of our community and the hard work of our team members who facilitate positive outcomes for individuals and families working towards long term recovery from substance abuse which builds better childhoods for our children, healthier and more resilient individuals, and safer and stronger communities.”

Michigan’s problem-solving courts are designed to be innovative, reaching 97 percent of the state’s population. Unlike traditional courts, treatment courts are not adversarial and use a team approach to prevent further offenses and save local governments the cost of incarceration. Participants in these programs access treatment and support to address underlying issues like alcohol or drug abuse, mental illness and untreated trauma.

Cass County offers a full continuum of these courts focused on evidence-based responses to restore families and improve outcomes. These programs include:

- Family Treatment Court: Started by retired Judge Susan L. Dobrich, now presided over by Chief Judge Carol Montavon Bealor.
- Adult Treatment Court/Sobriety Court: Presided over by Judge Rentfrow.
- Mental Health Court: Presided over by Judge Herman.
- Swift and Sure Sanctions Probation Program: Presided over by Judge Herman.

Participants in these programs receive intensive case management and supportive services from a multi-disciplinary team, which often includes peer support from individuals with lived recovery experiences.

It's full speed ahead for SMC graduate Carly Kolean

By JOHN EBY
Southwestern Michigan College

DOWAGIAC — Carly Kolean thrives on challenges, whether it's teaching a Junior Achievement class, graduating from Southwestern Michigan College in 2020 during a global pandemic, joining Amazon or buying her first home at 20.

Kolean, 24, came to Dowagiac from Middleville, a small town near Grand Rapids.

"I actually found out about SMC from my mom, who had a co-worker who raved about this school to her," she said. "My mom's co-worker had a daughter who said she loved it and that she had the best experience. I ultimately chose SMC not only for the positive reviews, but I was especially sold on how the dorms were set up. I loved the idea of having my own bedroom and a 'home away from home' with the dorms set up like apartments."

Kolean, who earned an associate degree in business with honors and hopes to own a spa someday, graduated from Thornapple Kellogg High School in 2018, arriving at SMC that fall.

Set on SMC since she was 16

"I was so set on the idea of SMC since I was 16 that I actually worked at the Caledonia McDonald's for two years. Going in as a first-generation college student, I saved every penny I made to be able to pay for my SMC tuition. I worked there two additional years on all of my college breaks."

KOLEAN

Kolean joined Amazon in June 2020, a month after graduating.

"Originally, I started working there to try and save up money to eventually pursue a bachelor's degree at Western Michigan University, but I saw so much potential career growth within Amazon that I decided on staying and planting my roots there."

"When it comes to business," she added, "the only clear idea I had was that I wanted to learn the ins and outs of what it takes to be a business owner to eventually one day start my own. I've always loved the idea of being my own boss and challenging myself.

"When I was a kid, I always thought that being my own boss looked like owning my own bakery, but now I feel my future goal is to someday open my own spa, as I'm currently obtaining my esthetician's license."

A unique experience at Amazon

Kolean feels "blessed" she was able to purchase her first home at 20 in a mobile home park close to where she grew up.

"I get to be close to my family, which I'm really thankful for," she said. "My work is at the GRR1 fulfillment center in Caledonia. My Amazon experience is a unique one to say the least. I first started working at Amazon as what's called a Tier 1 Associate. I was doing a lot of manual labor in assisting in putting together all of our online customer orders. I did this for about six months before I decided I wanted to challenge myself and apply to be what's called a Process Assistant for our Inventory and Quality Control department that operates as a large-scale 'checks and balances' auditing system in accordance with SOX compliance (the Sarbanes Oxley Act aims to prevent corporate fraud and protect investors). I did this for a little over three months before I was promoted to an on-site Area Manager. As an Area Manager I manage a direct reports team size that varies, but is anywhere between 30 and 50 people with a total oversight to roughly 150 each shift on my side of the building."

As Kolean explains, "An Area Manager II helps run the department they oversee to make sure it operates as smoothly and efficiently as possible. We do everything between managing safety, cost and quality to insure both the employee and customer experiences are positive ones."

Teaching JA

"I was nervous doing this course because teaching was never something that was on my radar as my career goal in life," she said. "I was truthfully very hesitant over the idea at first. I originally wondered what teaching a third grade class had to do with business, but after having finished the classwork, I realized I simply lacked perspective. Not only was I able to teach a group of students everything I was learning in college about business and see the interest and excitement grow within them each class, but I learned to adapt to different learning styles, which is applicable to running a good business as well.

"Celebrating our differences and getting to hear everyone's different perspectives on how they interpret things holds a lot of value in every aspect of life. I learn this more and more every day."

Coming out of her shell

Along with classroom academics, experiences such as JA and a variety of special-interest clubs strive to develop students' leadership potential.

Prior to SMC, "I would say I was a very quiet and shy individual," Kolean said. "I struggle a lot with anxiety and imposter syndrome, oftentimes doubting my own capabilities. I had a lot of anxiety in being a first-generation college student, not knowing what to expect. I always knew I wanted to challenge myself and not limit my capabilities out of fear, and SMC helped me in doing just that.

"Becoming an on-campus Resident Assistant (RA) in organizing activities and on-campus engagement really pushed me out of my comfort zone for the better," she said. "Having to tackle a variety of situations and having the duality of the job kept me on my feet and readily prepared for just about anything. I had a lot of classes that offered me this same growth of confidence and perspective as well between my public speaking course, law, marketing and curating a fully-operational business plan project collaborating on ideas with other students."

Kolean juggled her RA duties with two other jobs in the Student Activity Center and at the residence hall front desk. She was nominated as Student Worker of the Year in 2019.

Her mentors included Jeff Hooks, Hailey Sheets, Branden Pompey, Jorge Ramos, Teesha Conley and Angie Palsak.

So many good SMC memories

"Time management was definitely a learned trait as I have ADHD and have to find ways to work with how my brain is rather than against it, and SMC is very inclusive," she said. "I gained a lot of time-management skills from my time there that I still implement to this day.

"I have so many good memories from SMC, but some that stick out are all the summer activities between cookouts, outdoor Zumba, group bonfires, career fairs and all of the fun on campus monthly events we hosted. I made so many friends there and will forever cherish memories I made."

Pink is "in"
...Breast cancer is out.
Tom Starks, Owner
This month, we're honoring all the women who have fought the devastating effects of breast cancer.
October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. As we observe this important time of year, we reflect on the impact this disease has on the lives of women in Michigan and all across America. We remember and honor these women, their families, and all those they love. Our staff members at all Starks Family Funeral Homes are wearing pink to support those who survived, and more importantly, to honor those who did not.
We've seen firsthand the terrible effects of breast cancer among members of our own families. That has committed us to raising awareness and money to find a cure for a disease that strikes one in every eight women in our country.
We hope you'll join us in honoring and remembering breast cancer victims and survivors. And we hope you'll contribute to the research that seeks to end its devastating effects on our wives, mothers, sisters, and daughters.
At Starks, we strive to provide a meaningful celebration of life.
So we've pledged to help fight this disease… and survive it.

Rangers receive forfeit win over Sand Creek

By SCOTT HASSINGER
Leader Publications Contributor

CASSOPOLIS — The plans for the Cassopolis football team for Friday night have changed a bit.

Jeremiah Lee and his coaching staff were in the thick of preparing the Rangers for their fourth home game this season when the school received a call Wednesday morning from Sand Creek.

The Aggies, a member of the Big 8 Conference and winless in six games, were scheduled to make the 110-mile trip to Cassopolis for a 7 p.m. kickoff. However, Sand Creek did not have enough healthy players to safely compete this week. The Aggies, who lost 42-12 a week ago to Vermontville-Maple Valley, were also forced to forfeit its game a couple weeks ago to Springport as well.

Sand Creek, which has been outscored this season by a combined 183-78, is coached by Derek Hewitt. The Aggies qualified for the state playoffs the last two seasons losing both times in the Division 7 district semifinals.

Cassopolis' head coach knows far too well about the devastating effects a rash of injuries can have, especially on a football team whose roster is dominated by youth.

Just one year ago, Lee had to make a difficult decision to suspend Cassopolis' varsity season due to a player shortage brought on by multiple injuries to a young team. The Rangers' freshmen and sophomore team members played two games at the junior varsity level and won both of those against Decatur and Dowagiac.

Shamrocks return to winning ways

Berrien Springs bounces back from first loss with shutout of Dowagiac

By BEN SANDERS
For Leader Publications

DOWAGIAC — Berrien Springs got back on track with a convincing 21-0 victory over Dowagiac in a Lakeland Conference football game last Friday.

The Shamrocks rebounded from their first loss of the season, a mistake-filled 16-13 defeat against Buchanan the previous week.

"We talked all week about staying focused and not making mental mistakes," Berrien Springs coach Ben Iliff said. "We're not going to be perfect, but we limit them and we play to our level, we're going to be tough to beat. That's exactly what we showed tonight."

Dowagiac (1-1 Lakeland, 4-2) got off to a bad start Friday, fumbling the ball on its third play from scrimmage. Carson Tripp recovered for Berrien Springs (1-1, 4-1), the first of three Shamrock fumble recoveries.

"When you dig yourself a hole, that's what happens," Dowagiac coach Duane Davis said. "It's hard to get out of it."

Berrien Springs turned that first fumble into an early 6-0 lead on a 12-yard touchdown run by Travonn Williams. The rest of the first half was relatively uneventful, with the teams trading punts until the Shamrocks finished it with an impressive drive.

Berrien Springs started at its own 14-yard line, and quickly went backwards seven yards on a penalty. Quarterback Braelin Hurst then got the Shamrocks moving in the right direction with a 29-yard run, and continued to make plays to lead his team down the field.

Buchanan falls to defending D7 champ Millington 35-8

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

BUCHANAN — The Millington football team made the most of its six-hour round trip Friday, Oct. 3.

The defending Division 7 state champions scored 28 unanswered points and went on to spoil Buchanan's Homecoming with a 35-8 win.

Lucas Zeiger completed 5 of 20 passes for 107 yards and one touchdown and had 15 carries for 21 yards including a pair of fourth down conversions to keep Buchanan's scoring drives alive. Max Cornelius, the team's leading rusher, finished with 10 carries for 15 yards and one catch for 33 yards while Carson Deming had four carries for 13 yards. Thompson had one catch for 71 yards and Isaiah Nelson had one catch for 21 yards.

On defense, Jameson Pleasant had nine total tackles and Nelson had eight while Thompson had four and one sack.

The Cardinals outgained the Bucks 413-178 in total yards, including a 305-34 edge in rushing yards. Millington also had four turnovers compared to Buchanan's two. While the Bucks struggled against a physical Cardinals team, they had two drives into the Millington red zone that ended with turnovers on downs as well as a fumble into the Millington red zone that was recovered by the Cardinals.

According to head coach Mark Frey, what unfolded on the field Friday night was not Buchanan football.

"We made a lot of mistakes," Frey said. "You can't leave three touchdowns on the field in the red zone, so we gotta clean that up. We knew it was gonna be a battle. You can see it on film. They're gonna be a tough team. They won state last year, so most people are afraid of scheduling them. So we tried to take that next step and as a program and we've got a little bit of work to do."

Maxwell Harden / Leader Publications

The Buchanan football team fell to Millington 35-8 last week.

Millington got on the board with a one-yard run by Drake Terwilliger to take a 7-0 lead on their opening drive. The Cardinals scored three more touchdowns in the first half on explosive plays: a 40-yard pass from Garret Woodward to Layden Delong, a 34-yard run from Logan Myers and a 24-yard pass from Woodward to Delong on 4th and 12 to make it 28-0 with 1:18 left in the half.

The Bucks' lone touchdown of the game came in the closing minutes of the first half as quarterback Lucas Zeiger connected with Owen Thompson on a 71-yard touchdown pass. The Bucks converted the two-point conversion to make it a 28-8 game at halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Cardinals found the end zone one more time via a 60-yard run by Hudson Myers to go up 35-8 with 5:21 left in the game.

"They're just a physical team and if we don't stay gap-sound, which is what occurred on three of the touchdowns, that's gonna happen," Frey said. "You stay gap-sound and you don't give up big plays on 3rd and 16 and 4th and 12, you know, then you come out the winner."

While the loss hurts, Frey believes playing against state championship pedigree will pay dividends through the regular season and beyond.

"When you walk past [the Millington kids] in the handshake line, you can see they have the size and the speed that we haven't seen all season," Frey said. "So getting it under our belt and knowing that this is the best team we'll probably have faced and maybe face until the playoffs is a good place to be. So next week, we can come out a little more confident against a more equal opponent."

Edwardsburg, Buchanan runners medal at the Portage Invite

By SCOTT HASSINGER
For Leader Publications

PORTAGE — Area runners braved warm temperatures and high humidity to compete in Saturday's prestigious Portage Cross Country Invitational at Portage West Middle School.

Several participating schools will return in a few weeks for regional competition on the same 5,000-meter (3.1 mile) course.

Edwardsburg turned in the best finish among area boys' teams in the Division 2 race. The Eddies finished in 15th place with a score of 531 followed by Niles in 44th with 1131 and Dowagiac finished in the 50th place spot with 1580.

Senior George Scupham placed 37th to lead Edwardsburg with a time of 16:54. Sophomore Ethan Ferguson was the next Eddie to cross the line in 49th place with a time of 17:02.7 followed by Gavin Ayers (135th, 18:07.5), Jaden Gregory (148th, 18:24.2) and Riley Szala (179th, 18:45.4) to round out the scoring.

Concluding the Eddies' top seven were Braiden Schub (212th, 19:04.5) and Lucas Frentz (217th, 19:10).

Niles freshman John Brickley led the Vikings with his 76th place time of 17:30.8. Beau Kirtdoll was the next Viking to finish in 241st at 19:20.3. Also figuring in the scoring for Niles were Liam Pesce (263rd, 19:40.4), Theodore Arseneau (310th, 20:15.9) and Oliver Trout (346th, 20:51).

Other Vikings that competed were Miguel Rodriguez (360th, 21:14.5) and Adolfo Sanchez-Perez (431st, 25:44.4).

Dowagiac has just enough runners to post a boys' team score. Leading Ryan Maggert's Chieftains was Josue Morales-Perez in 333rd with a time of 20:39.1. Also competing for Dowagiac were Angel Brito (347th, 20:51.1), Balois Franco (357th, 21:07.3), Jeremiah Hargreaves (415th, 23:38.4) and Mayson Preston (435th, 28:34.7).

"Its a fast course with a few hills, but this is the course where a lot of our kids set their personal bests last year. There is alot of talent here that pulls our runners along and helps us out. We didn't have our best showing today, but it was very hot out. Our goals for the remainder of the season are to set as many personal bests and do well at regionals," Maggert said.

Buchanan earned ninth in the Division 3 boys' race with a score of 285.

Junior John Keser paced the Bucks with a fourth-place time of 16:20.3 followed by senior Liam McBeth (27th, 17:10.5), Jack Sherwood (31st, 17:17.8), Jacob Kuntz (112th, 18:46.1) and Bentley Molitor (133rd, 19:10.6).

Completing the Bucks' top seven were Charles Spencer (138th, 19:17.7) and Marley Hinds (208th, 20:11.1).

In the girls' meet, Niles was the lone team to qualify for a score in Division 2 where the Lady Vikings scored 620 points to finish in 23rd place.

Lena Coulson, a freshman, turned in the top place for Niles with time of 21:19.4 good for 88th place. Other scorers for the Lady Vikings were Claire Devleschoward (129th, 22:14.7), Katie Walsh (207th, 23:45.3), Amari Aldridge (210th, 23:46.5) and Haili Martz (218th, 23:58.9).

Edwardsburg's top finishers were sophomore Grace Leman (52nd, 20:23.4) and Giselle Babcock (203rd, 23:36.9).

Edwardsburg head coach Lito Ramirez was pleased with his runners' efforts in both the boys' and girls' races.

"It was a very difficult day today with the heat. But we had George and Ethan medal for us in the boys' race. Grace also ran well. Our top runner Georgia Babcock was unable to finish the race due to some breathing issues, but she will bounce back and got a clean bill of health from the great medical staff who attended to her," Ramirez said.

Sophomore Sadie Bonczynski (147th, 22:40.8) was Dowagiac's top finisher on the day.

Buchanan freshman Tala Carlin finished 13th in the Division 3 girls' race with a time of 19:59.8.

Alison Murray of Niles Brandywine finished in 51st with a time of 21:21.7.

Early momentum lifts Niles to 49-0 win over Three Rivers

By SCOTT HASSINGER
For Leader Publications

NILES — It was a Happy Homecoming Night for the Niles football team Friday, which used its big and powerful offensive line and stingy defense to dismantle Wolverine Conference foe Three Rivers 49-0.

The win keeps Niles, ranked No. 4 in the latest Michigan Sports Writers football rankings, unbeaten at 6-0, including a 4-0 mark in the Wolverine. Three Rivers, meanwhile, suffered its second straight loss and fell to 4-2 overall and 2-2 in the league.

Niles received the ball to open the contest and scored in six plays on a 33-yard TD scamper by senior tailback Alex Anderson. Vikings' place kicker Michael Matlock then booted the first of his three PATs in the game for a 7-0 lead.

Vikings' senior cornerback Brenden Olsen recovered a Three Rivers fumble two plays into the Wildcats' first series that set up a seven-yard TD dash by senior fullback Elijah Norris. A two-point conversion pass failed, but the Vikings' had increased their lead to 13-0 with 7:29 left in the period.

Olsen's recovery was another example of Niles being able to dominate opponents by creating turnovers and capitalizing on its opponents' mistakes with points on the board.

"Our emphasis was to set the tone and come out and put it to them. In the past few games we've come out slow. The whole idea tonight was to start strong. I got that early fumble recovery and from there our offense just exploded. If we continue to make the adjustments we need to then we got this," Olsen said.

The Vikings' defense then forced the Wildcats into a punting situation on the ensuring series. But a fumbled snap by the visitors forced Three Rivers' Brayden Carpenter to pick up the pigskin and try to run for a first down. Carpenter was swarmed moments later and tackled on his own 28.

Niles scored quickly in five plays with freshman quarterback William Turnbull sneaking in Three Rivers' endzone from one yard out. Anderson added a conversion run to boost the Vikings' advantage to 21-0 entering the second quarter.

The next Vikings' scoring drive covered 70-yards with Anderson getting loose on a 15-yard TD dash. Matlock's PAT put Niles in front 28-0 with 11:33 left before halftime.

Niles had two other chances to put additional points on the board in the first half. The Vikings' drove down to the Wildcat 25-yard line before turning the ball over on a fumble. Matlock also was wide left on a 30-yard field-goal attempt as time expired in the first half.

Scott Hassinger / For Leader Publications

Senior halfback Alex Anderson rips off a big chunk of yardage as he is pursued by Three Rivers' defenders Ethan Moreland (21).

"We had real good field position the first couple of quarters. I was kind've disappointed we didn't have those two other scores. Up front it was a different story because we were able to do anything we wanted. I'm not saying this to brag, but it's difficult for other teams to simulate how well we're going to come off the ball in practice," said Niles head coach Scot Shaw, who notched his 250th win of his career.

Niles had three ballcarriers top the 100-yard mark in the first half alone: Sophomore Brandon Walsh carried nine times for 138 first-half yards. Anderson added six touches for 102 yards and one touchdown. Norris lugged the pigskin 17 times for 101 yards and two TDs. Turnbull had one carry for a score as well.

It was the third consecutive game that Anderson rushed for big yardage in a Niles' victory.

"Mainly we had been a second-half team, but lately we've been jumping on our opponent early and aren't that kind of team that starts slow any longer. We're finally going to put it on teams in the first half and continue that on during the second half," Anderson said.

While pleased with being a big contributor in the Vikings' ground assault, Anderson said its all due to a huge offensive line. That group includes guards Chase Brawley and Brandon Hamilton; center Shane Barber, along with tackles Trenton Scott and Evan Williams.

"I can make a couple people miss on tackles when I'm running the ball, but I can't really do anything without those guys that are blocking in front of me. I'm just happy to say my linemen do most of my work for me and I just move my feet. I'm really proud of our freshman quarterback who continues to push us and improve himself to get us to more wins," Anderson added.

Senior inside linebacker Ward Cheney blocked a Three Rivers' punt that he also ended up recovering at the Wildcats one-yard line at the 9:31 mark of the third quarter. Sophomore Brandon Walsh scored on the next play to put the Wildcats in front 34-0. Matlock's PAT failed.

The Vikings' defense forced the Wildcats into another three and out. Niles took possession and drove 58 yards to paydirt with Norris rambling nine yards for the TD and Matlock added the PAT for a 41-0 advantage entering the fourth quarter.

The Vikings would cross the Wildcat goal line one more time with 11:12 left in the game on a 23-yard ground strike by sophomore running back Brogan Lake. Olsen's conversion run capped off the scoring.

Junior Braeden Turay added a fumble recovery for the Vikings on a Three Rivers' punt with 4:02 left in the game.

Cheney had seven tackles in the first half and Bradley Woolverton added a quarterback sack. Olsen and Jayelin Vawter both had three tackles.

"I was really pleased with how our defense played tonight. Brenden got that early fumble recovery. He's a good player, but I was especially pleased with how well our defensive backs performed. For us to shutout a team like Three Rivers, who I think is a pretty good offensive team, is a testament to how we played defensively," Shaw said.

"This was probably our best overall game that we've played so far this year. We did a lot of things right, but we still have a few things to work on and get ready for Vicksburg next week," Shaw said.

Second-year Three Rivers head coach Jeff Awe, who played for Shaw during his coaching tenure at Three Rivers, said the game boiled down to critical mistakes made by his squad.

"We made some terrible mistakes and when you do that against a good football team like Niles its magnified. Niles is a physical and well-coached football team. Our hats go off to them," Awe said.

Niles will visit Vicksburg next week for a key conference game at 7 p.m.

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan boys soccer team defeated rival Brandywine 1-0 in the Division 3 district opener on Wednesday, advancing to the semifinal round.

Preston Payne scored the match's only goal in the 21st minute, assisted by Easton May. The goal marked Payne's 12th goal and May's 12th assist of the season. Goalkeeper Charley Cowart earned the shutout for the Bucks.

Buchanan improved its record to 12-6-2, while Brandywine finished its season with a 6-10-1 record.

"First off, I commend Brandywine on a well-fought game," said Buchanan coach Ryan Haines. "They have greatly improved this season behind first-year head coach Alex Ulrickson and did an excellent job keeping the game close."

The team's focus this year is on its "One Goal" motto: winning a district championship, which the program has not done since 2003.

The Buchanan boys soccer team defeated rival Brandywine 1-0 in the Division 3 district opener on Wednesday, advancing to the semifinal round.

"It's what I talk about at every game and practice," he said. "That One Goal is a district championship. Every win, loss, tie, and practice during the regular season has helped build this program during this season in search of something we haven't won since 2003."

The Bucks now look ahead to the district semifinal next Tuesday at 7 p.m. They will face the Lakeland Conference champion Berrien Springs, an opponent the Bucks lost to 5-0 earlier this month.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — The No. 21 Notre Dame Fighting Irish defeated the Boise State Broncos 28-7 on Saturday. The victory, which marked the first time the two teams have ever played, improved the Irish's record to 3-2.

The Irish victory was driven by a strong rushing attack and a dominant defensive effort that forced four turnovers. Quarterback CJ Carr completed 15 of 23 passes for 189 yards and threw touchdown passes to Will Pauling and Malachi Fields.

The Irish offense rushed for a total of 200 yards. Running back Jeremiyah Love gained 103 yards and scored a 4-yard touchdown run. Jadarian Price added 83 rushing yards, highlighted by a 49-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter that sealed the victory.

RANGERS

Cassopolis receives a 1-0 forfeit this week improving the Rangers' overall record to 2-5. So instead of lacing up the cleats on Friday night, Lee and his squad will attend the Hartford at Centreville game together as a team.

Centreville (2-4) visits Cassopolis in Week 8. In week 9, Cassopolis, a member of the Southwest 10 Conference, will face a to-be determined foe from the Big 8 in a cross-over game.

"We will continue to practice as normal the rest of the week and then attend Centreville's home game with Hartford on Friday," Lee said.

Despite his team's losing record, Lee continues to see tremendous improvement every day in practice and each game. Besides this week's forfeit win, Cassopolis' other win came in the second week over Comstock 41-12.

Back-to-back losses the past couple weeks on the road at Decatur (38-7) and a heartbreaking 29-28 loss in Hartford were both contests that Lee contends that his squad learned a great deal from. Had those two contests went in Cassopolis' favor, the Rangers very well could've been in the hunt for a playoff spot. Instead Lee says his squad will use those two contests as a springboard to finish this season strong leading into the offseason and the 2026 campaign.

"Our team is progressing very well, especially since the second half of the Decatur game. We feel like our younger kids are starting to figure things out more," Lee said.

Cassopolis' coach felt the Rangers best half of football this season was the first two quarters against the Huskies.

"We played a great first half of football, but our youth and inexperience really showed up in the second half and we just weren't able to close that one out," Lee said.

The Rangers' head mentor pointed to defense, especially tackling as one of the biggest areas of improvement so far this fall.

"Our kids have taken a huge leap the last couple of weeks, especially. We have guys who are starting to record double-digit numbers in tackle totals.

Leading that charge are Cassopolis' trio of linebackers in junior Elijah Wagner, along with junior Lance Leach and Easton Mitchell, along with Tyson West. Wagoner leads the Rangers in tackles with 63, while Leach has amassed 49.

Tyson West, along with offensive lineman and defensive end Colt Dement as two players who have turned the corner in their development on defense for the Rangers.

Junior quarterback Lucas Williams continues to be the brightest sparkplug offensively. Lee describes that situation as both positive and negative.

"Lucas is doing a great job, but we need other guys to step up and handle some of the offensive load. Right now we are way too one-dimensional on that side of the football," Lee said.

The 6-foot-0, 185-pound Williams has been a force all season with his arm and legs. Williams has completed 56-of-110 passes for 1,179 yards and 13 touchdowns. He also leads all rushers on the team with 71 carries worth 512 yards.

"Opposing teams are starting to really key on Lucas so it's important that we get our running game going here near the end of the season," Lee said.

Cassopolis' head coach still identifies the Rangers' offensive line as a work in progress.

"We are still moving pieces around to find the right combination. We have a lot of sophomores in some of those positions," Lee said.

Among Williams' top pass catchers are sophomore wide receiver Mason Nelson with 16 receptions worth 401 yards and three TDs. Senior Jaylen Pratt has 11 receptions for 322 yards and five TDs, while his sophomore brother Jamiere Pratt has 16 catches for 307 yards and three TDs.

With the playoffs out of the picture, the Rangers' have redefined their goals.

"We really felt like we could win our last three games and our goal is to finish out the schedule on a strong note. We really feel like Centreville is a winnable game and then we will see who we play in the cross-over game," Lee said.

Cassopolis' head coach has been impressed with the Rangers' resiliency.

"Our kids continue to show up everyday and work hard in giving me everything they've got," Lee said.

Injuries have been minimal for Cassopolis this spring.

"We've been fairly healthy and blessed to have avoided many injuries."

SHAMROCKS

With just two seconds left in the half and Berrien Springs facing 4th-and-goal from the Dowagiac 10, Hurst found Louis Rome open in the end zone for a touchdown. Hurst then ran in the two-point conversion, cutting all the way back from one sideline to the other to make it 14-0 at halftime.

"That's massive, but that comes down to focus," Davis said. "We weren't focused. We're down there in man coverage, and we've got a guy that just leaves (Rome) running across the field. It's frustrating.

Hurst finished with 16 carries for 118 yards, including a 6-yard touchdown run for the only scoring of the second half. He also finished 12-for-26 passing for 91 yards.

"We didn't always hit everything, sometimes the throws weren't where they needed to be," Iliff said. "But with (Hurst) off schedule, both throwing it and running it, more times than not it's going to be good. It's hard to prepare for for defenses, it's kind of an X-factor situation we have."

Dowagiac totaled 216 yards of offense, but the Chieftains couldn't turn it into points. After Hurst's scoring run made it 21-0 with 3:43 left in the third quarter, Cameron White broke free for a 59-yard run, but lost the ball at the end of it and the Shamrocks recovered.

Dowagiac again moved into Berrien Springs territory on its next possession, but Sinzcere Crowley forced a fumble on a sack and Darrin O'Dell recovered for the Shamrocks, helping to secure a shutout against a team that came in averaging 46 points per game.

"They just played their hearts out," Iliff said. "We knew it was going to be physical. Dowagiac's always physical, they play tough, they play hard, they're a good football team. We had to rise to the challenge, and our guys kept responding every time."

Dowagiac faced Buchanan Friday in its final Lakeland Conference game. Visit heraldpalladium.com/leaderpub for a recap of the game.

Madeline Bertrand County Park offers 18 holes of scenic, wooded disc golf near the Michigan-Indiana border.

Spinning discs at 'Mad Bert'

Southern Berrien has a gem of a disc golf course at Madeline Bertrand

Madeline Bertrand County Park is the ideal setting for a fall disc golf hike.

In my last column, I wrote about how I got back into playing disc golf this summer, and asked readers for suggestions of which southwest Michigan course I should play next.

Several of you reached out after the story was published, making a case for your favorite course in the area.

Ryan Yuenger

I plan on playing all the recommended courses, but my first choice was made after reading a convincing email from former Berrien County Park Operations Manager Mark Huebner. It read:

In my opinion, the best disc golf course in Michiana is at Madeline Bertrand County Park in Niles. The course is cut through an old scotch pine plantation and deciduous forest along the state line. It's a very tight and challenging track.

I must admit that I'm a bit prejudiced when it comes to the Madeline Bertrand course. While working for Berrien County Parks, myself, a half dozen jail inmates and an excavating contractor built this course. Prior to construction, Parks staff had the pleasure of walking the property and laying out each hole with Ed Headrick. Mr. Headrick was the inventor of the modern day frisbee and disc golf.

This description, coupled with the fact that Niles' Leader Publications is now part of our Paxton Media Group family, was a perfect reason for me to visit Madeline Bertrand County Park – "Mad-Bert," as Huebner called it – for a round of disc golf on an unseasonably warm Saturday in October.

The course

In my past experience, playing disc golf was never just about the beautiful scenery or the challenge of the course itself – the people I met while playing were always part of the fun.

This rang true once again at Madeline Bertrand.

As I was getting ready to tee off on the first hole, a nice local fellow named Beau introduced himself and offered to play with me. He had just finished playing 18 holes and was trying to get in a few more before heading home for the day.

Beau immediately complimented the music coming from my bluetooth speaker – a surefire way to win me over. For those keeping score, I was playing Blockhead's 2024 album Mortality Is Lit!. Check it out.

Beau kindly offered advice on how to attack each hole we played, which was much needed – this course consists of many narrow, tree lined holes with several pins you can't see from the tee pad. Most shots require accuracy, and stray throws can land your disc deep in the brush or at the base of the tree you just dented.

Overall, the course was ideal – it's both picturesque and offers good, challenging disc golf holes. It has clear signage, well-defined fairways and high-quality Mach 7 disc golf baskets. Trees have been trimmed to make the course more playable, and there are many wooden steps built into the ground to make some of the steeper hills easier to navigate.

While the park does run along the banks of the St. Joseph River, there is no water or other hazards to worry about during the round. On a rainy day, things might get a little muddy, however.

Several large black walnut trees on the course made for a frenzy of squirrel and chipmunk activity, with the occasional falling nut also keeping me on my toes. As I made my way through the course for a second time, I even had a staring contest with a family of white-tailed deer.

Fall colors are starting to sweep into the park, providing 360-degree panoramic forest views at every turn. It's hard to even keep score with so many natural delights around.

There are miles of biking and hiking trails throughout the park, including several points where the disc golf course and trails meet. I almost learned this the hard way when a bicyclist came riding near the path of my disc on one of the holes.

I couldn't have asked for a better fall afternoon, or a better guide than Beau to show me the course for the first time. I will definitely be back.

Tournament

Madeline Bertrand disc golf course is hosting a 40th anniversary tournament Saturday, Oct. 11 at 9 a.m. For more information, visit berriencounty.org.

Parking passes at the park are $3 for Berrien County residents, and $5 for non-residents. The disc golf course also charged a fee of $5.

Yearly passes are available at the visitor center, which is also fully stocked with snacks, drinks and an array of discs.

Ryan Yuenger is an HP correspondent. Send him ideas of where to take a hike or play disc golf next at ryuenger@thehp.com.

A scenic tee pad view on hole 13. Beau told me this is a signature hole on the course.

Swimming drone explores underwater mountain in middle of Lake Superior

By LAURA HERBERG
Bridge Michigan

Known to some as the "Freshwater Everest," if you want to explore this mountain, you don't go up, you go down.

In the middle of Lake Superior, near the boundary between Canadian and U.S. waters, sits the Superior Shoal, a mountain that's completely underwater.

The shoal is about 4 square miles of volcanic rock that rises up from the bottom of the lake to a height nearly three times that of the Statue of Liberty. Its peak wrests about 30 feet below the surface.

The shoal, a term used to describe areas of shallow water, was first charted in 1929.

Now, filmmakers and researchers are exploring it with underwater drones. They want to see if it's a hotbed for aquatic life that could offer a refuge for species facing obstacles elsewhere in the Great Lakes.

"This is an area that has very, very rarely been explored on camera," said Zach Melnick, a cofounder of Inspired Planet Productions, which he runs with his business partner and wife, Yvonne Drebert.

It's not the only underwater incline in the Great Lakes. Others include Stannard Rock, a reef in Lake Superior north of Marquette; a knoll outside Tobermory, Ontario in Lake Huron; and Midlake Reef in Lake Michigan, between Muskegon and Milwaukee. And it's not the only "Superior Shoal." There's another located in the St. Lawrence River off the shore of New York.

But Drebert and Melnick believe the Superior Shoal in Lake Michigan is the largest known underwater mountain in fresh water.

Documenting aquatic life with a swimming robot

The filmmakers had been curious about lake protrusions after exploring one that appeared to be an outlier of aquatic life while filming their series and related documentary, "All Too Clear: Beneath the Surface of the Great Lakes." Those works dive deep into how invasive mussels in the Great Lakes are gobbling up essential nutrients and devastating organisms, from plankton to whitefish.

When a researcher they'd worked with in the past, Michael Rennie, got a grant to explore the Superior Shoal, they "sort of begged him," Melnick said, to let them come along.

Rennie is an associate professor at Lakehead University and a research fellow at the International Institute for Sustainable Development-Experimental Lakes Area. Now, with the help of the filmmakers' cameras, he's looking into whether the Superior Shoal might be a hotspot for life, which he said is often the case for similar seamounts found in the ocean.

What they're essentially studying, Rennie said, is "how the physics of having this giant mountain in a bunch of water that's swirling around all the time interacts with things like nutrients, and with the growth of algae, to promote the abundance of fish that we seem to be seeing out there."

Melnick and Drebert are operating special cinema-grade cameras to monitor aquatic life like zooplankton, algae and fish.

The drone they use is called a Boxfish Luna and it can go around 1,600 feet deep, about the length of five football fields.

"Think of aerial drones, take all that cool technology, and put it in a robot that you're shoving underwater," Drebert said. "But our drone is a little bit special because it can swim in any direction, just like a fish."

Usually, it takes a little while for fish to get used to the swimming drone, Melnick said, but fish near the Superior Shoal seemed to be curious.

"The trout out there were ultra amenable to being on camera," he said.

At one point, while the team was livestreaming video, they tried to measure fish with two laser points. The fish chased the glowing red dots the same way cats do.

They also saw hydra, which are kind of like freshwater anemones, attached to rocks, giving the effect of a garden.

"They are little tiny aquatic animals that wave in the wind," said Drebert. "They use their little hairy tentacles to pull food, like little zooplankton and critters, out of the water."

Ripe for conservation?

Rennie said the data collected on the recent trip has not been fully analyzed yet. But, if research shows that the Superior Shoal is a magnet for aquatic life, then maybe it and places like it could serve as refuges for near-shore populations dealing with environmental or human-caused problems.
